Village OKs industrial park

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — Preliminary plans for a new industrial park on Illinois 111, just north of Pontoon Road, were approved Tuesday night by the Village Board of Trustees.

Crescent Industrial Park will be constructed by George Guidici of St. Louis on 10 acres of land. The property located on the east side of 111 was purchased last year from the village.

A preliminary plat displayed at the meeting showed the property will be divided into seven parcels, split by a privately constructed cul-de-sac roadway leading east from Illinois 111.

Immediate plans call for construction of a 100-by-120-foot building to house a heating, air conditioning and plumbing equipment company, Guidici said.

The remaining parcels on the property will be occupied by other commercial businesses, officials said.

Also approved by the board was a final plat for Timberlake Manor subdivision on the west side of Pontoon Road.

The area consists of 24 single-family lots extending west and adjacent to the first Timberlake Manor development. P&E Construction Inc., 2235 Pontoon Road, headed by Richard and Helen Buenger, is the developer. Other developers involved in Timberlake are Gary Stark, Floyd and Norma Foreman and Ray and Ruth Ann Stephens.

Trustee Louis Whitsell commented that he had questioned drainage at the rear of the property when the preliminary plat was approved at the April 11 meeting.

Jimmy Stuart of J.E. Stuart & Associates civil engineering said there will be a retention pond and a possible swale system leading to the storm sewers.

Both plats were approved by unanimous vote.

Sparks fly over appointments

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

PONTOON BEACH — Split votes and caustic remarks were recorded Tuesday night, as old and new members clashed on the village board.

The appointment of two men to the Pontoon Beach Zoning Board of Appeals did not reach the same harmonious conclusion as proposals earlier in the meeting did for an industrial park and housing development.

Fireworks started when Mayor Glen Wilson proposed the appointment of former village trustee Bob Vincent as zoning board administrator and Bill Ross to fill a vacancy on the zoning board.

Vincent, who was defeated in a close bid for reelection to the board April 4, was to replace Donald R. McNew, who resigned the administrator position to seek a trusteeship. McNew also failed to win a seat in the election.

Ross' appointment was to fill the position left vacant by the death of longtime board member Floyd E. Ridgeway, 69, Ridgeway died March 26. Possibly adding to the confusion was a list given trustees of other village appointees, including police chief, village attorney, treasurer, building inspector, assistant building inspector and health inspector.

Trustee Robert Douglas, a new board member and former village health inspector, made motion to vote on the appointees individually and not as a group.

Wilson said his only appointments were those of

Rock Road to be improved

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The City Council unanimously passed three ordinances and a resolution Tuesday night, clearing the way for a complete renovation of Rock Road, from Illinois 3 to West 20th Street.

The $920,000 project calls for expanding Rock Road from its present 20-foot width to a width of 36 feet curb to curb.

When finished, Rock Road will be the primary entry to the downtown area from Illinois 3. It connects with the 19th Street overpass.

The resolution allows the mayor to enter into an agreement with the Illinois Department of Transportation to proceed with Rock Road, known officially as Federal Aid Urban Route 9063.

Under the terms of the agreement, the $800,000 estimated construction cost will be borne by Madison County ($240,000) and the federal government ($560,000). The city will pay the entire cost of preliminary engineering, $50,000, and construction engineering, $70,000.

The city will provide for all utility adjustments needed to complete the project and will be responsible for maintenance of the completed project.

One of the ordinances bans parking on the east side of Rock Road from Illinois 3 to Denver Street and on the west side from Illinois 3 to Division Street. It restricts all but parallel parking on the west side from Division Street to Denver Street. Fines for violations run from $25 to $100.

The second ordinance regulates encroachment on Rock Road's right-of-way, with fines set at $10 to $50.

Banned encroachments include buildings, fences, signs or structures of any kind that are placed or located on the roadway right-of-way.

Permitted encroachments include existing overhanging awnings, marquees, signs or similar structures on buildings where the sidewalk extends to the building line.

The third ordinance concerns the use of storm sewers that will be constructed as part of the project. It makes illegal the connection of any sink, toilet, basement, septic tank, cesspool, industrial waste or any other thing that discharges pollutants to the storm sewers. Violations carry a fine of $100 to $500.

Under the approved agreement between the city and state, the state will receive all bids for construction and award the contract for construction.

$500 reward set for park vandals

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

GRANITE CITY — The Granite City Park Board is offering a $500 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of those responsible for damaging five ornamental light standards in Wilson Park.

The lights were recently being installed along the walkway leading from Fehling Road to the entrance to the park ice rink, said board President George Sykes.

Extensive vandalism took place between about midnight on the night of April 20 and 10 a.m. April 21.

Replacing the lights would cost between $2,000 and $2,500, said Don Highley of Rite Electric Co., the company which installed them.

The lights were broken at the base and also the globes were smashed, Highley reported to police.

"Not only did this lighting add beauty to the park, but more importantly it was a gift given to the residents of the park district in memory of one of our leading citizens, Mr. Henry Lueders, who recently passed away," Sykes said.

"How do you imagine his family views this incident?" the board president asked.

"By this single act of destruction, something has been taken away from them, and from all of us, who are responsible, law-abiding people."

"Each of us should be outraged that this type of thing happens," Sykes said.

In addition to the reward, Sykes said, further action is planned as a result of the destruction of the new lighting and other vandalism which is constantly occurring in the park system, particularly in Wilson Park.

The board will authorize additional security to patrol the area, specifically on the overnight shift, Sykes said.

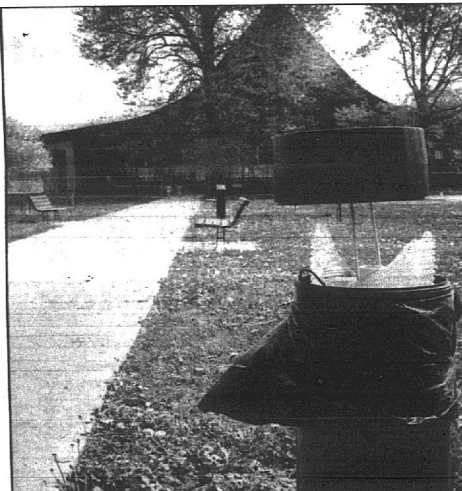

Not only will the numbers of security personnel be increased, but selected points will be established for surveillance and observation, he said.

"Let those who commit these acts of vandalism realize that the district will prosecute to the fullest extent possible anyone caught destroying public property."

"In addition, full restitution of damage cost will be demanded," Sykes said.

Eagle Park wants help stopping outsiders

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

EAGLE PARK — If Eagle Park residents have their way, excessive rowdiness by drunks, weekly gatherings of drug users in the unincorporated area, and the influx of unwanted troublemakers, many believed to be bringing drugs into Eagle Park from outside areas, Road Commissioner Ed Salmond of Venice Township said Tuesday.

About 60 residents attended a public meeting Saturday at the Improvement Association Community Center.

Everyone agreed steps should be taken immediately to remedy problems, Salmond said.

"We're really fighting these drugs coming in and we're sick of the random shooting going on every night and the burglaries," he said.

Salmond said most of the gunshots heard are being fired at random, but there have been several shootings with individuals hurt.

One such shooting occurred about 2:30 a.m. Thursday, April 13, when four men were wounded in a shooting incident and eight in the parking lot outside Blake's Lounge in the 200 block of Roosevelt Street in Eagle

Park. None of the wounded was fatally hurt, but three were admitted to area hospitals.

Several things were taking place in the parking lot when the gunfire erupted, and the person or persons doing the shooting were not immediately identified, a Madison County Sheriff's Department spokesman said.

Salmond said most of the trouble is occurring on Wednesday night and early Thursday morning in the vicinity of a tavern, and residents are fearful.

"We decided to ask the State Police and the sheriff's department to assist us," he said. "We hope they will help us."

"We're also asking William Blake, who leases the tavern, to post signs prohibiting loitering outside and service to minors. And we are hoping to get the state or sheriff's office to enforce this," Salmond said.

Controlling access into the community, to bar undesirable elements, is one solution being proposed by Salmond and other citizens.

"We are petitioning Mayor (John) Bellico to close off the entrance at Race Street from Madison leading into Roosevelt Street. We will then have only one entrance, from Illinois 203," Salmond said.

"That area (Race-Washington streets) is getting real bad, like

Deputy coroner finds satisfaction in his job

ALTON — The telephone rang, interrupting a rare chance for Ralph Baahmann to relax.

When an Edwardsville man died in a two-car accident recently, Baahmann, Madison County's chief deputy coroner, was called to make it official.

Baahmann climbed into his blue jumpsuit at 7 p.m. and got to the scene 20 minutes later. He looked at the body and withstood chilly weather to complete his field investigation.

"It's an occupational hazard. Death investigators, including Dallas (Burke, the county coroner) and myself, are on call 24 hours a day, 365 days a year except for an occasional day we can go out of town," Baahmann said.

It's also a lifestyle. Baahmann wouldn't trade for anything, including a law practice. In the mid-1970s, Baahmann attended Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville. He tended bar and became an ambulance driver. His plan was to become a lawyer.

But Baahmann met Russ Knowles, then a deputy coroner. Baahmann watched Knowles investigate fatal accidents.

"Most people don't set out to be a deputy coroner. I worked two or three jobs at a time, and when I started on the ambulance, I became curious. I didn't return to school, and I decided to work full-time on the ambulance," Baahmann said.

To Baahmann, the son of Alton dentist Ralph H. Baahmann, investigating the cause of a death became as fascinating as a police search for a murder suspect.

In fact, a death investigator can patch enough investigative holes to make the difference between a murder conviction and an unsolved murder.

About 80 percent of the coroner's office cases are natural deaths, but Baahmann treats each one as a homicide, at least at first.

"The first and foremost thing for every investigation is to rule out a criminal occurrence. You go in expecting a worst case. If you don't go in with that frame of mind, you will probably miss or disturb important evidence," he said.

If a case is homicide, Baahmann will discuss an investigation strategy with police. The strategy usually includes withholding an important fact.

"We can tell what someone was beaten with, and we are sometimes able to determine what a person was bound with even if it is taken off. That's why we withhold a fact only the suspect will know," Baahmann said.

Baahmann has been questioned over and over about his reasons for being a death investigator. Even he acknowledges most people initially have second thoughts when he describes his job.

"Some people think the job would be overly depressing, but you can give people satisfaction on what was the cause of death. You also get satisfaction when your investigation identifies the subject," he said.

Seven charged with truancy

Seven Granite City teen-age boys were charged with truancy and one with cannabis possession when arrested at 10:20 a.m. Friday, April 21, at Belleme Village Shopping Center on Nameoki Road.

A caller told police of seeing an incident near Jill Avenue and Nameoki Road with one individual involved walking toward the shopping center. An officer then checked the area.

One of the youths at the shopping center, a 16-year-old boy, allegedly had two hand-rolled cigarettes in a pocket. He was charged with truancy and unlawful possession of cannabis.

Another in the group, a 15-year-old boy, was served a warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of curfew violation. He also was charged with truancy. Taken to the Granite City court, he was charged with truancy and failure to appear for a hearing at a later date.

Also charged with truancy were James Edwin Beyer, 17, of the 2500 block of Angela Drive, Nicholas Leone, 17, of Georgetown Drive, Jeffrey Charles Boyles, 17, of St.

Granite City

Paul Street, and two boys, 15 and 16 years old.

All were released to their parents on notices to appear for hearings.

Bank card stolen, used

Joseph Woods of the 4700 block of Lake Drive, Pontoon Beach, reported April 20 that someone used his 24-hour bank card and number to remove $150 from his account at Central Bank, 3303 Nameoki Road.

Woods said his wife's wallet was stolen April 17 at Anderson Hospital, Maryville. The theft had been reported to the Madison County Sheriff's Department. The bank card had been in the wallet.

Cordless phone missing

A cordless telephone valued at $100 was taken while she was working in her yard April 12, Dorothy Conreux of the 2900 block of Dogwood Drive reported April 21.

License warrants served

Chester Louis Byrd, 33, of the 2500 block of Circle Drive was arrested at 3:15 a.m. April 22 at the Madison Police Station on a Granite City warrant alleging failure to appear on a charge of driving while his license was suspended.

After Byrd was transferred to Granite City, two additional warrants were found to have been recorded. Illinois State Police alleged driving while his license was suspended and Pontoon Beach charged failure to appear on a charge of driving while his license was suspended.

Tools stolen from crane

Assorted tools and lubricants were removed from a large crane parked on the east side of the Midwest Steel building in the 1100 block of 22nd Street, it was reported April 21. An inventory was taken to determine what property was missing. Mike Babic of Midwest Steel said. Numerous thefts have occurred at the plant within the past six months, he said.

Bicycle struck by auto

Jimmy D. Hettenhouse, 29, of the 700 block of 28th Place reported at 9:40 p.m. April 21 that a vehicle struck his bicycle, knocking him off it, while he was riding west across the 28th Street railroad crossing just east of Nameoki Drive.

Hettenhouse, who sustained an injury, said the driver stopped, drove Hettenhouse to his home, and then left.

Warrants served on man

After police responded to a reported disturbance at a residence in the 2200 block of Grand Avenue at 12:50 a.m. April 22, they arrested the occupant, Martin Eugene Gaspie, 27, on warrants.

Gaspie, who denied any disturbance was taking place, was served with warrants which alleged failure to appear on three charges of disorderly conduct and a charge of criminal damage to property.

Collision hurts three in vehicle

Three people sustained injuries in an April 18 traffic accident.

The collision involved a pickup truck operated by Roger Glasper, 34, of the 1200 block of Oriole Street, who was making a left turn onto Broadway from Robin Street, and a car driven by Kenneth West Jr., 40, of the 2200 block of Lee Avenue, Granite City, westbound on Broadway.

West and two passengers in his car, Christine P. West, 30, of the Lee address and Sherry Gipson, 22, of the 2200 block of Lincoln

Venice

Avenue, were taken by Campbell Ambulance to the emergency room at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

Glasper told police his vision was obscured by a large tractor-trailer truck, also westbound on Broadway, which had its right turn signal activated as it turning into Robin Street.

Apartment window shot

Mary Nelson of Lee Wright Homes reported April 11 the front room window of her apartment was shot out, apparently by children who were playing with a BB gun across the street.

Extinguish garage fire

Firefighters extinguished a garage fire at the home of Clay Gilmore in the 200 block of Granite Street at 5 p.m. April 10. Open burning nearby was listed as the cause of the blaze.

Man grabs purse, $331

Rhonda Manson of the 1100 block of Logan Avenue reported April 17 a man grabbed her purse while she was standing at Bissell and Klein streets about 9 p.m. April 17. He asked her for a cigarette and she replied she had none. At the time he took the purse and ran, she was holding a baby in one arm and her purse in her right hand. Inside the purse were $31, miscellaneous papers and $24 worth of food stamps.

Courthouse tightens security after threats

EDWARDSVILLE — Reported threats against a judge and others have prompted increased security outside two courthouses in the Madison County Courthouse.

The heightened security was instituted after sheriff's deputies learned of the alleged threats, apparently through a "street talk," according to a source who declined to be identified.

One corner of the second floor has been roped off so that the only access to the two family court courthouses is through a metal detector.

Chief Circuit Judge Paul J. O'Neill said the measures have been considered for some time and were implemented on a trial basis. He did not attribute the measures to any specific threat. O'Neill said the measures are consistent with recommendations from a court security study by the Administrative Office of the Illinois Courts.

The security study was done and court personnel were given additional crisis training after shootings last year that were related to two divorce cases. The shootings occurred in Madison County but not at the courthouse.

The training included instruction in how to recognize people who are seriously troubled and might cause harm to themselves or others.

Woman allegedly battered, stamps taken

Orlando Woolfolk, 25, of the 700 block of Bissell Street, Venice, was charged April 18 with theft and battery after Madison police received an initial report from a Venice officer that a woman had been battered at the 2nd Street and Bissell in Madison.

Cheriss Wright, 22, of the 800 block of Bissell Street, Venice, said she and Woolfolk were walking near Bissell and West 2nd Street when the man grabbed her by the neck and demanded she give him some food stamps. When she refused to give him the stamps, Wright alleged, Woolfolk took the stamps from her pocket, threw her onto the sidewalk and hit her in the face. He also struck her in the side with a brick, she said; taken were a book of food stamps worth $40 and two books each worth $7.

Police talked with Woolfolk at the home of a relative on West 2nd Street.

He allegedly returned a $7 book of stamps with a $5 stamp inside and became upset when asked for additional stamps. The arrest followed.

Truck driver charged

John Wesley Dossett, 37, of Henderson, Ky., was charged with misdemeanor theft April 13 following an incident at the Gateway Midstate Truck Plaza, 699 Illinois 203.

Dossett, a truck driver, was arrested at the truck stop, where he was being held for police by a security officer. Another driver alleged seeing Dossett carrying an item from a tractor-trailer truck to his vehicle.

An AM/FM stereo cassette radio, allegedly removed from a truck belonging to Rustler Transport Service of Witt, Ill., was recovered.

Dossett posted $100 bail and was released pending a May 18 appearance at the St. Clair County Courthouse in Belleville.

Workers Memorial Day observed

The Greater Madison County Federation of Labor, AFL-CIO, will join organized labor across Illinois and the nation to observe the first "Workers Memorial Day" on Friday, April 28.

It will be held to remember and honor the millions of workers who every year are injured on the job, and those who suffer long-term health problems related to exposure to conditions at the workplace. In addition, it will be in memory of the 10,000 American workers who suffer fatal injuries on the job each year, union officials said.

The date of April 28 was selected because it is the anniversary of the passage of the Occupational Safety and Health Act (OSHA), which was created to help make work sites safer.

"It did have some early success, but as funds were cut, and fewer inspectors used, OSHA has become almost a disaster," Guy Mudd, secretary of the Madison County Federation, said.

"Organized labor is trying to make the American public aware of the problems, and of unsafe working conditions. In Madison County, over 2,000 lawsuits are pending due to long-time exposure of asbestos.

"This is just one example of what is going on all over the country. Here in Illinois, we now have the Right to Know Act. It is a positive step as it allows workers to know just what kind of chemicals or products they are exposed to. It also provides for needed safety equipment.

"Theme for the first Workers Memorial Day is 'Mourn for the dead and fight for the living.' That is what we intend to do.

"The families, the friends and the co-workers of all those who died because of work-related accidents will never forget them. We hope that the general public will also remember them on April 28.

"Organized labor has pledged to do all it can to help achieve safer workplaces. It will work to get 'right to know' in all the other states. It will work for enforcement of higher and better safety standards, to provide more and better health protection, and to see fair and just compensation for those injured or killed. Labor's goal will be to improve safety and health at every American workplace.

"The labor organizations in this county and across the nation will observe this first Workers Memorial Day in their own manner and choosing. Some will have a brief stoppage on the job for silent prayer.

"Others plan a memorial program, some public and some private. Some will use radio or TV for their 'memorial' message.

"In some locations where there have been a large number of accidents and fatalities, elaborate ceremonies will take place. The nearest location for one of these will be Kansas City, Mo., where in November of last year an explosion at a construction site killed six firefighters.

"On April 28, many workers will wear black armbands to mourn dead fellow workers, killed on the job. We will never forget them."

clerk; Julie Hellrich, acting assessor; Brian Bjorkman, acting fire chief; and Jim Hawkins, acting city treasurer. ## Lanter Co. buys Kreider building

By Andy Siering
Staff writer

MADISON — Lanter Company has purchased the old Kreider Truck Service Inc. building at 1600 Collinsville Ave.

The deal was completed April 20 after the City Council acted quickly to pass an ordinance April 18 clearing the way for the transaction.

The city had issued a revenue bond for $650,000 in 1980 to Kreider Truck Service Inc., which merged in 1986 with Equity Capital Corp. of Delaware. The bondholder was Mark Twain Bank Northland of St. Louis.

The bond has been paid in full. The city had been the owner and lessor of the property. Part of the arrangement finalized Thursday was the sale of the property by the city to Equity, which then sold it to Lanter.

Mayor John Belloff hailed it as good for the city.

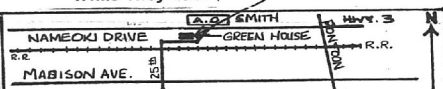

"Any time you fill a vacant building, it's a plus for the community," he said.

Belloff said Lanter planned to move its corporate offices into the building.

Mark 11:23 "He shall have what he sows."

Words are like seeds. Speaking is like planting. You shall have whatever you say. You will have a harvest. This is not just logic, it works. Speaking words of malice, hate, envy, or strife, means we will reap what we have sown. Speaking words of love, peace, harmony, and joy, means we shall reap the same.

The real value of having this knowledge is this: we can control our happiness by controlling the words we speak. We are in control of our own state of being, not someone or something else. Why not take control of your life?

Illinois lawmakers choosing sides on abortion legality

By Jason Moody
P-R/J Washington bureau

WASHINGTON — State and federal lawmakers are choosing sides in a landmark case before the U.S. Supreme Court this week that could overturn Roe v. Wade, the 1973 decision legalizing abortion.

A Supreme Court decision reversing the 1973 case could give states more freedom to regulate abortion, spurring a bitter fight over Illinois' murky state law.

Illinois is one of only four states that has passed laws pledging to restrict abortion if Roe v. Wade is overturned. Illinois maintains its pre-1973 abortion statutes on the books.

Legal researchers have challenged the laws as non-binding because they were passed in a previous session of the General Assembly.

More than 50 Illinois state representatives and senators, eight congressmen, and a number of special interest groups have sent the high court advisory legal briefs stating their views in the case of William Webster vs. Reproductive Health Services.

The case involves a 1986 Missouri law that declares life begins at conception and mandates no public funds, employment or personnel be used to perform or advise an abortion.

When the Supreme Court hears the opening arguments Wednesday, it will be the first full review of abortion by several of the court's newest justices, including U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello, D-Belleview, State Senator Frank Watson, R-Carlyle, and State Rep. Ron Stephens, R-Troy, have cosigned the so-called "amicus curiae" or friend-of-the-court letters, which are a traditional forum for interested parties to state their positions to the high court.

Together, five congressmen and 27 state legislators from Illinois filed for the pro-life side.

The pro-choice side includes statements from three congressmen, 27 state legislators, including Rep. Wyvetter Younger, D-East St. Louis, and several reproductive health organizations and freedom of information advocates.

Activists and lawmakers on both sides of the issue say a decision weakening the landmark Roe vs. Wade case would spur unprecedented political activity in Illinois.

"It could open the floodgates for pro-life legislation," said Jim Leach, public information officer at the Illinois attorney general's office, adding it was too early to say what the final outcome would be.

"The right-to-lifers in the General Assembly would certainly be reinvigorated," agreed Colleen Connell, an attorney at the Chicago office of the American Civil Liberties Union who filed a brief with the Supreme Court on behalf of a group of reproductive health professionals. "We would have a whole new ball game," she said.

According to a report by the nonpartisan Legislative Research Institute at the state capital, anti-abortion laws curbing the doctors' freedom to have no legal significance even if the Supreme Court reversed itself because they were passed in a previous session.

"The Legislature would have to pass additional legislation after the decision if they wanted to change current law," said David Miller, a senior attorney with LRI.

Current anti-abortion bills pending in the General Assembly could be blocking "depending on the timing of their passage and the scope of the Supreme Court's decision," Miller added.

One such law pending at Springfield would allow a man claiming to be the father to obtain a court injunction preventing an abortion by the mother of the child. Another would require abortions involving a fetus of 20 or more weeks to be performed in a hospital where life support systems for the fetus are available.

Although similar anti-abortion laws passed during earlier sessions have been ruled unconstitutional, some state lawmakers say their mere existence is proof of the pro-life leaning in the General Assembly.

"Right-to-lifers not only hold a majority, but an extraordinary majority in the Legislature," said Rep. Stephens. "Depending on the exact bill, we can usually override a governor's veto on this issue."

Stephens, a co-sponsor of several anti-abortion bills now pending in the House, said he would work to introduce more pro-life legislation in the event Roe vs. Wade is weakened.

"The current General Assembly tends to introduce and pass pro-life legislation and I would expect that they would continue to do so," said Rep. Jim McFike, Illinois House majority leader.

"We need time, and that's what we're fighting for," Stille said, referring to the state's mandated timetable for considering landfill applications.

County puts 4-month ban on landfill applications

By John D. Milazzo
Staff affiliate

EDWARDSVILLE — The door has been closed on further applications for landfill expansion in Madison County until at least August as a result of a moratorium on applications declared by the County Board on April 19.

The moratorium was approved after the board agreed to reconsider its action of last November, when members rejected by one vote a request to suspend consideration of landfill applications.

Environmental Committee Chairman Richard Worthen, D-Alton, said the moratorium is needed because Laidlaw Waste Systems Inc. is expected to submit a new application shortly for an estimated 70-acre expansion of the Barton Landfill west of Edwardsville.

Submission of such an application automatically starts a 90-day study and review period.

The county must then convene state-mandated public hearings on such applications. But Worthen and other county board members, including Bob Stille, D-Edwardsville, said the county does not want to be held to such a timetable.

Stille, a vocal opponent of a larger expansion of the landfill defeated last year, said that the county is about to receive a 20-year waste management plan.

He said that should allow county officials to better judge the merits of applications for new landfills and expansions of existing landfills.

Worthen said officials of the East-West Gateway Coordinating Council have told him they expect to have a 20-year waste management plan ready for officials in Madison, St. Clair and Montgomery counties "within the next two weeks."

Gateway is the St. Louis area's "council of governments."

Once the county has received the proposed plan, Worthen said, the board's land use committee will conduct a series of hearings before formal action to adopt the plan.

"We need time, and that's what we're fighting for," Stille said, referring to the state's mandated timetable for considering landfill applications.

If you love color, don't be afraid to splash lots of bright, intense tones all over the house. For best results, colors should be of equal intensity. Have fun— you can always repaint.

Sand in the paint adds some texture to plain walls, and helps hide imperfections. (Thomas Jefferson knew that trick, and used it in building the University of Virginia.)

All new gas ranges now have electronic ignition instead of pilot lights; soon gas ovens must meet the same requirement. Look forward to lower energy bills; the pilot light costs almost as much as cooking!

For a make-believe canopy-bed look, staple fabric over a frame nailed to the ceiling. Or hang rods from the ceiling, and loop lengths of fabric through them.

Land values are up. Recent analysis found that in 1973, the land under the average home was worth 18 percent of the total price. By 1987, the land accounted for 26 percent of the sales price. Want to turn your land into money? List your property with the experienced real estate people at

Lake

Each wing of the school will have doors painted red, yellow or blue. Teachers were allowed to choose the color of their rooms, which range from eggshell white to sky blue.

Much of the color coordination, as well as the design of a sign for the school, was done by Merna Davis, gifted-program director and teacher.

While the work still has a long way to go, according to Ron Landman, District 9 director of buildings and grounds, things are definitely looking up, at Lake. Landman said the school may open on time, avoiding even the temporary use of Webster School in the fall.

"We've gone about as far as we can go until school lets out," Landman said.

The Educational Therapy Center currently occupies one wing of the Lake building. The center has been very cooperative with efforts shifting them to other classrooms. Landman said. Except for that wing, the building has been closed since the end of the 1982-83 school year. Most of the rooms have already been painted, some need cleaning up from the work, and others just need furniture.

"We're going to incorporate some of the furniture we had at Johnson School but other things we'll have to buy," Landman said.

The school board approved purchase of several types of items, including desks, chairs and tables, at the April 18 meeting.

"It's not a brand new school," Landman said of the 30-year-old Lake building. "We don't want people to think that. It will look very nice, though."

"When you consider that the average classroom is 900 square feet and the average living space in a home is about 1,200 feet, that's a lot of moving," Landman said of the grueling task awaiting him and his crew.

Move is, after all, a four-letter word.

regarding the closing time of all parks will be reviewed by the board, changed where necessary and then fully enforced, he said.

"We are asking the Granite City Police Department to assist us in implementing further security action within the district," Sykes added.

For most of the year, the park district has always maintained security around the clock, but the guards simply cannot be everywhere, the board president said.

"We need the help of our citizens to report suspicious activity in the park when observed," Sykes said.

"The parks belong to all of us. Unfortunately, when more money is spent on security, that leaves less for other programs and activities," he said.

Sykes said the board and staff "strive to make the parks a place of beauty and pride for the community," by spending thousands of tax dollars as well as private contributions.

Yet, there is a certain element at work which insists on destroying this beauty and seems to find amusement in destroying public property, Sykes said.

"We would hope these people would re-examine their values, discovering there are more positive ways to channel their energies."

"Unfortunately, experience tells us there will always be someone who delights in the type of vandalism which the park district has incurred," Sykes said.

one big dump. There's dead dogs laying there and everything else."

Salmund said Venice Township has large gates which could be used to block off the roadway. The gates were purchased with Community Development funds for the holding pond area, but were found to be unnecessary there, he said.

Reducing access to one entrance road that could be checked by police would eliminate a great many of the problems now facing Eagle Park, he predicted.

Regular patrols through the community and a traffic checkpoint — where law officers could stop suspicious vehicles to check for drugs and weapons — are being proposed by the citizens' group.

Salmund alleged that as many as 10 drug pushers can be seen gathered at one time and in one place in Eagle Park on occasions.

"We don't want them or need this," he said.

Illinois Power Co. already has cooperated with the community by agreeing to install two new amber street lights near the entrance from Illinois 208, Salmund said. The lights are located on private property but illuminate the roadway.

"This is the area that would make a good traffic checkpoint," he said.

"We can only ask. But we are hoping the city of Madison, the State Police and the Sheriff's Department will help us."

Supported employment clients find jobs in Metro East region

SPRINGFIELD — Since the federal government began funding Supported Employment projects in Illinois four years ago, more than 750 people with severe disabilities have found jobs through 72 projects statewide.

In the Metro East area, about a dozen people are employed at five programs in Belleville, Alton, Granite City and East St. Louis. Their jobs range from food service to nurse's aide.

Supported Employment is an innovative vocational rehabilitation program administered by the Illinois Department of Rehabilitation Services (IDORS).

"Through Supported Employment, people who once were thought to be unemployable are finding jobs and becoming taxpayers," said IDORS Director Phil Bradley.

With labor shortages predicted into the next century, Supported Employment is a proven and practical way to augment the work force.

Two Supported Employment clients clean linen at the restaurant at the National Shrine of Our Lady of the Snows in Belleville.

"They do a fine job," said Rick Jasiewicz, assistant manager.

Vincent and Ross and the remaining appointees, such as police chief and treasurer, were being continued and not re-appointed.

"All the appointments are the same with the exception of Vincent and Bill Ross. I am not changing the other appointments," Wilson said.

When questioned whether he should seek the advice and consent of the board on appointments, the mayor responded, "I am conferring with you now about the new ones."

"He's been thrown out of office just recently," Douglas said, speaking of Vincent.

"I don't agree with you," Wilson said.

"I don't think he's qualified, and I think there should be some discussion on this with the board," said Trustee Rene Karlechik, also a newly elected board member.

"What do you mean, not qualified?" the mayor asked. "He's been on the board for eight years, he was a former village inspector and he's a precinct committeeman."

Trustee Loren Madison said, "I want a roll call vote. You are not going to ram this down our throats."

"I don't care whether you vote or not. They are in," the mayor said.

Trivia
In the rush at the end of prohibition in 1923, four local cities sold 122 retail licenses for 24 hours. Only 12 licenses after the first six-month period expired.

Dental is usually a temporary defense mechanism and in most instances soon gives way to partial acceptance. The length of the denial depends on how much time he has to gradually acknowledge the inevitable consequences and how realistically he has dealt with past situations.

When a person has a long range prognosis of death, he may drift in and out of periods of denial. A person can consider the possibility of his own death for a period of time, but then must put such thoughts aside so that he can get on with life.

If a loved one receives the prognosis of a terminal illness and begins denial, don't try to rationalize with him or confront him on the issue. Instead, listen to him and be ready to talk to him about his impending death at a later time when he is ready to talk. In all probability, he will be relieved to be able to sit down and talk about his problems at a later date, when he is ready to face it. Remember, let him face it at his convenience, not at yours.

Denial functions as a buffer against the unexpected, shocking realization that an illness is terminal. It allows a person to collect himself and mobilize his psychological defenses against the inevitable in this way, it is a healthy way of dealing with a very painful situation.

DENIAL BY TERMINALLY ILL IS NORMAL REACTION
Elisabeth Kubler-Ross in her definitive work on death and dying indicates that the normal first stage a person goes through when he learns that his disease is terminal, is denial. Denial occurs whether or not the person is told outright at the onset of the diagnosis or if he comes to that conclusion on his own later in the illness.

Denial is a normal reaction to impending death because in our subconscious mind each of us is immortal, death is something that happens to other people, not to us. It is almost inconceivable for us to acknowledge that we too now face death.

of the restaurant. "Like many new employees, they were quiet when they started, but now they smile — I've seen them grow a lot."

Jasiewicz said his Supported Employment clients have excellent attendance records. "They arrive when they're scheduled to," he said.

Central to the success of the program are job coaches, who assist employees on the job. The job coaches ensure that work is done up to the necessary standards, and the coaches work at no cost to the employer.

Unlike vocational rehabilitation programs in which clients are expected to become completely independent after a certain point, most Supported Employment clients will always need assistance.

The federal grant funds job coaches and supportive services for a maximum of 18 months. James Thompson is asking the state Legislature to allocate an additional $650,000 to IDORS to continue funding job coaches and services after the federal grant money ends.

Chris York is the job coach at the Belleville National Health Outpatient Center. Federal funding for her position ends June 30.

Obviously angered by the confrontation, Madison said, "I'm not going... with this. I move we adjourn." His motion was quickly seconded by Douglas.

"The list was only given (to you) for information and you are only voting on two appointments," Wilson said when the discussion continued.

Madison agreed to withdraw his motion after Village Attorney Keith Jensen said the order of business should be followed before adjournment, including comments from the audience and unfinished business.

When the same issue resurfaced a few minutes later, Wilson agreed to make the two appointments on a temporary basis.

"Then he (Wilson) can bring it back at every meeting," Madison said.

"Would you be willing to accept a list of some suggestions (for appointments)?" asked Trustee Marvin Ribbing, also a new board member.

"Yes, but these stand," Wilson replied.

This time, Karlechik made a motion to adjourn the meeting. Madison offered the second.

After the surgery, she spent two weeks in Hillsboro, Ill., with her daughter and son-in-law, Shirley and Clinton Barnhart. Upon returning home, her daughter, Nancy Buckner of San Diego, spent two weeks with her and has since returned home.

The Baptist Women of Calvary Baptist Church held its monthly meeting, with seven present.

Nancy Hostmeyer, the president, called the meeting to order. The treasurer's report was given by Luella Propes. Hostmeyer gave a devotional titled, "I Will Show You New Things."

Mission Action project this month is to make sandwiches for the New Life Center in St. Louis.

Kilmer closed the business meeting with prayer.

Pauline Hall presented the program, "What If..." about the cooperative program. Nancy Hostmeyer lead the Calendar of Prayer, and Ruth Moser, Kay Andersen and Propes closed with prayer.

Soup kitchen/pantry plan OK'd

EDWARDSVILLE — A new soup kitchen/food pantry program will begin soon in Madison County following approval April 19 by the county board.

The new program is the result of passage of the 1988 federal Hunger Prevention Act.

The program will be in addition to and separate from the current distribution of surplus food commodities, according to Lanny Darr, director of the county's Emergency Services and Disaster Agency. ESDA will administer the program.

Unlike the present commodities program, carried out now only every other month at a limited number of locations, these commodities will go to 15 different agency sites and will be offered on an as-needed basis, Darr said.

The present commodity distribution program has consisted of a limited number of bulk foods, including cheese until several months ago.

The new program will include an expanded list of commodities, including orange and grapefruit juice, sweet potatoes, dried potatoes and dried beans.

At some county nutrition sites where there are already full-fledged daily meal programs — such as the Alton Salvation Army and the Phoenix Crisis Center in Granite City — the new foodstuffs will be given to site operators "to help defray their costs," Darr said.

He said that under the program the federal government provides the food and will reimburse the county 4 cents per pound distributed.

In addition to the Phoenix Crisis Center, the 15 sites include two other Quad City area organizations: the Salvation Army and Protestant Welfare.

The first consignment of food, 11,000 pounds, has been ordered and distribution is expected to begin soon.

Students not qualified may also attend summer school for a fee of $61 per class. Payment must be made at time of registration and is not refundable after May 31.

Hospice volunteers handle many duties

Nancy Kaprelian wouldn't trade her volunteers for the world.

She's responsible for coordinating 80 volunteers and public relations for Hospice of Madison County, a department of St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

"Hospice volunteers come from all walks of life, but they share one common trait — a compassionate and caring nature," she said. "They go into our patients' homes and listen with an attentive ear, offer an understanding hand and provide deeply-needed respite time for the care givers."

The 80 volunteers Kaprelian refers to as "important members of our team" will be honored later in the year, in November, during "National Hospice Month." On Oct. 1, Hospice of Madison County will also celebrate its 10th anniversary.

Kaprelian said Hospice of Madison County would not be "a full-service hospice" without the help of its volunteers.

"They work with our staff to give the care required to make our terminally ill patients comfortable physically and emotionally and to give support to the care givers," she said.

"They also help out in the office with the phone, with typing and mailings, special projects for patients, the annual memorial service, plus public relations and fund raising."

Urgent needs require city unity, coordinated action

Before this month's election in Granite City, it was understandable that the candidates voiced widely differing opinions. They saw the issues from opposing vantage points and tried to persuade the public to back them and their proposals.

A sharply contrasting situation exists today. The city's new year and officials' new terms are about to begin. The people have spoken and now deserve a constructive period of action, not argument—progress, not partisanship—forward momentum, not factional discord.

No war is a good war, even World War II, which disrupted normal life and brought much calamity. But it perpetuated freedom and proved that people could subordinate their own wishes and selflessly serve the general interest of loved ones and fellow citizens.

Granite City has not been bombed or invaded, but it has suffered setbacks. Its role as one of this nation's leading industrial centers has been diminished by changing circumstances. Its infrastructure has decayed. Its spectacular growth has been reversed. In its once-busy central business district, buildings have been demolished and some of the remaining retail facilities are vacant.

Employment losses, the aging of homes and residents, and the trend toward smaller families have reduced our population and prosperity. But all is not lost.

Judicial process cheapened

Something is desperately wrong when courtroom controversy turns from individual rulings to the judicial process itself.

A farce has revealed itself over a period of weeks, as nine circuit judges have attempted to select a new associate judge for the 3rd Circuit. Today, not only have the judges not selected the new man, but they also have shown how cheap the process has become.

A bit of history: About two months ago 25 lawyers applied for two openings. Chief Circuit Judge P.J. O'Neill supervised the proceedings and distributed a ballot among the other circuit judges. One associate judge was chosen but the second vacancy couldn't be filled because no other candidate received a majority. Three candidates were still in the running. A later ballot narrowed that field down to two, Robert Hennessey and Charles Douglas, both of Granite City.

At this point Judge O'Neill called for an unprecedented Illinois State Bar Association poll of lawyers in the circuit. Hennessey received a rating barely enough to rank him as "recommended." No mention was made of Douglas, leading him and most others to conclude he was not recommended. Douglas blasted the poll, saying it was not indicative of talent.

It became apparent Democratic power brokers were exerting pressure for their own favorite, raising new questions about the partly non-partisan nature of the courts. Then on Monday the latest vote was announced: a 4-4 tie, with one judge abstaining. O'Neill now proclaims that ballots will keep going back to the judges until a majority votes for either Hennessey or Douglas. This could go on forever.

Some of the circuit judges indicate they lack confidence in the candidates. This raises questions about the eventual winner's effectiveness on the bench and his ability to co-exist with fellow judges. We feel off-bench abilities are important to the process, as well as the verdicts rendered.

Why did Judge O'Neill call for the poll of lawyers? Did he suspect that the vote would be close enough to change somebody's mind? How did a supposedly secret ballot procedure become such public knowledge? Results of the latest vote were generally known on the street prior to the opening of the ballots.

Perhaps the selection of an associate judge should be done the same way as circuit judges—a vote of the entire public. If politics must be part of the judicial process, let it be legitimate politics. If we can choose the higher-ranking position of circuit judge, we certainly can do the same with associates. We couldn't do any worse than what has so far happened.

Chief Judge O'Neill, competent and level-headed, may have botched this particular effort or been handed an impossible task. New methods should be considered, to restore confidence in our courtrooms.

"Justice delayed is justice denied," experts say while fighting court logjams, and we feel the same way about city policies and performance.

"D Day" is near. We must marshal our forces and proceed with urgency.

No conflict of any kind, aide says

To the editor:

I am writing about the article by Mr. Hearn in your April 16 edition. It implies that I have a conflict of interest in my position as administrative assistant to Congressman Costello.

Shortly after Jerry Costello was elected to Congress, he asked me to serve in Washington, D.C., as his administrative assistant. I was, of course, honored at the opportunity to assist our new congressman and serve the people of the 21st District of Illinois.

My only concern was whether I would be required to sell my business, Executive Services Inc.

I immediately contacted attorneys for the Clerk of the House and the House Committee on Standards of Official Conduct (the "Ethics Committee"). Since I did not intend to remain in Washington, D.C., on a permanent basis, I would have refused the congressman's offer if it meant not having a business when I return to Illinois.

Both attorneys indicated that I was not required by law or rules of the House of Representatives to sell or cease operation of my business.

They pointed out, however, that I must conduct any business activities on my own time and outside of the Congressional office.

I decided to go farther by taking a leave of absence and completely separating myself from all business operations, even on my own time.

I receive no salary, bonus or dividend payments, do not sign checks, contracts or other documents and have never been involved in the solicitation of business since joining the congressman's staff on Aug. 22, 1988.

It is important to point out that Executive Services Inc. has never held a contract for services with any department, agency or office of the U.S. government.

It has not derived any business contracts as a result of Jerry Costello's position in Congress or my being his Administrative Assistant.

A reading of Chapter 3 of the Ethics Manual of the U.S. House of Representatives will clarify that no laws, rules or ethical standards have been violated.

Thank you for the opportunity to respond.

MATT MELUCCI

Student opposes 'closing' campus

To the editor:

As a student at Granite City High School, I am writing in protest of the impending closure of campus. We, the ones likely to be affected by this action, were informed of the School Board's decision in an announcement Wednesday morning, April 19.

Our principal, Ken Spalding, assured us that the closing is not a punishment; that it is being done only for the welfare and benefit of the students. I find this hard to believe.

Apparently, many citizens and local business owners have complained about our lunchtime behavior, but did the School Board consider the students' problems in this situation?

The crosswalk at Jill Avenue is a joke. When the signal button is pushed on the campus side of Namecki Road, the light never comes on at all; and when it is pushed from the other side, east and west, the lights facing the kids go because it says, "Walk." The motorists also go, and they get mad and honk at us for something that is beyond our control.

I understand that some of the students smoke and destroy local property, but my friends and I are honor students, and we certainly do not. All we want is a decent lunch.

If the campus is closed, it will be difficult to accommodate all the students in the cafeteria during the existing lunch hours. As it is now, the cafeteria is comfortably full and we have just enough time to get our food, eat, talk for about five to eight minutes, and walk to the main building in anticipation of the bell.

So, what does this mean? Will more lunch hours be added, causing students to eat at 10 a.m. and some at 2 p.m.?

I am weary of the administration making what appears to be snap judgments and leaving the students and their parents to wonder as to their fate.

The idea of an overpass across Namecki was brought up and quickly rejected. Why? All we want are some answers.

After-Prom party gave 'safe' feeling

To the editor:

A very special thank you to all the contributing sponsors and all the people who worked so hard to put on the "Let's party all night" After the Prom Program.

Also, a big thank you to Executive Director Pat Barker and the Tri-City Area YMCA staff for their contributing part and providing the facilities.

I felt very comfortable knowing my son had a safe place to go after the Prom—a place to go that was drug-free and alcohol-free.

He had a great time and enjoyed all aspects of the program. As he told me when he came home at 8 o'clock Sunday morning, "I had a blast!"

Cat fur for vet's riches?

This is a story of inflation. How 99-cent can of tuna cost me $67. This is also a story of the family cat. Or at least the family cat to four out of five members of my family. I'm the fifth, and likely to forever remain outside that circle.

Her name is Tillie. She's a long-haired something-or-other, kind of a cross between a Persian and a dirty Oriental rug. She has the appetite of Mike Tyson and the disposition of Joseph Stalin. Her claws were the basis for that movie with Freddy Krueger.

But for all of that, I actually felt sorry for her when she took sick this week, moping around the house like one of those zombie critters in "Pet Sematary."

My wife immediately took her to the vet, packing her in her cardboard carrying case. I frankly would be embarrassed to go out in public that way (not with my wife, with the case).

"Hairballs," said the vet. "Has to be hairballs. That will be $22."

My wife came home later that day with the hairball medicine, forcing me to hold the cat while she administered the rancid stuff. I hated it. (The claw marks, not the medicine.)

Two days later, Tillie was still moping around the house, and I was beginning to think maybe she was just a welfare case.

Back to the vet she went again, complete with case.

"I'm not sure, but I still think it's hairballs," said the vet. "We better keep her for observation."

The next day, after a battery of tests (judging from the bill, everything from blood to urinalysis), the vet still wasn't sure.

Trying to save myself from bankruptcy, I got to thinking about her problem when my eyes fell upon the tuna can next to the cat dish. I passed on my suspicions; the vet confirmed, "It must have been the tuna," he said. "That will be $45."

Tillie's home now, resting comfortably as always. I'd charge her rent, but my wife wouldn't go for it.

Where is that tuna, anyway?

Closed campus for local high school?

How do you feel about the recent decision to close the Granite City High School campus?

Karen Odom, GCHS freshman

"I don't think there will be enough room for all of the students. And people will get into fights and not be able to stay away from each other. New one group can go to one place and other group can go to another place."

David Wright, GCHS junior

"It's not fair. They could have let us finish out with an open campus and gradually phased it out, like they did with the smoking area."

Missie Simpson, GCHS freshman

"I don't think they will have enough money to build a new cafeteria. They should use that money for fans or something useful. It's just not fair for us."

Local magazine awarded

The "Laryngoscope," the official journal of the American Laryngological, Rhinological and Otolaryngological Society (The Triological Society), based in St. Louis, recently won two awards in the Successful Magazine Awards contest.

The "Laryngoscope" won first place in the Research Scientific category of the Scholarly or Scientific Division and placed third overall in the Scholarly or Scientific Division.

The awards were announced April 5 at the 10th annual conference of the Successful Magazine Publishers Group in Atlanta. SMPG is a national organization of publishers which provides services and consultation to small- to medium-sized specialty publications.

The "Laryngoscope" publishes original manuscripts on new research in otolaryngology, head and neck surgery and related medical specialties. It has an international circulation of more than 8,500.

Executive Director Norma J. Mendoza of Granite City said judging was based on outstanding writing, editing, artwork and design.

The medical editor of the journal is J. Gershon Spector, M.D., of Washington University. Dr. Malcolm Stroud, also of Washington University, is immediate past president of the Triological Society and the foundation which publishes the journal.

"Archeology Magazine" placed first in the Scholarly or Scientific Division; "The Nation" placed second.

LA newspaper executive advertising director of Sun

Marvin P. Naftolin, director of marketing at the Los Angeles Herald Examiner, has been named advertising director for the St. Louis Sun, publisher Thomas M. Tallarico has announced.

Naftolin, 48, will direct the advertising sales staff for the daily newspaper which will be launched in September. Tallarico said Naftolin will begin his duties at the Sun on May 8.

Naftolin, a graduate of The University of Toronto, began his career as a media buyer for an advertising agency, and then served as managing manager for a retail company before joining the largest public relations firm in Canada.

In 1975, he became director of advertising sales for the Toronto Sun. Naftolin was named to his present position at the Herald Examiner in January 1988.

"My wife, Connie, and I are looking forward to making our home in St. Louis and I'm excited about being part of the Sun management team," Naftolin said.

Powell circulation director

Charles E. "Chuck" Powell III, city circulation manager for the Chicago Tribune Co., has been named circulation director for the St. Louis Sun.

Powell, 40, will be responsible for developing and implementing the newspaper's circulation and transportation systems, said Thomas M. Tallarico, publisher of the Sun. Powell agreed to begin his new duties April 24 in preparation for the Sun's launch in September, Tallarico said.

Powell currently is responsible for the sales and delivery of the Chicago Tribune to all home-delivery customers and single-copy customers in the city of Chicago, Tallarico said.

"Chuck brings 18 years' experience in circulation and transportation management to St. Louis and his expertise will be most valuable in launching our newspaper," he said.

"I look forward to both the unique challenge and opportunity to build the circulation department at the Sun," Powell said. "I consider this a once-in-a-lifetime opportunity and my family is looking forward to living in St. Louis."

Powell and his wife, Sara Lee, live in Kenilworth, Ill., with their two children, Rebecca, 9, and Charles, 5.

Magna adds New Holland

William S. Badgley, chairman of Magna Group Inc. of Belleville, has announced that Magna consummated the merger of New Holland Farmers Bank, New Holland, Ill., as of March 31.

The stockholders of New Holland will receive 17,046 shares of Magna common stock for each share of New Holland stock. There are 8,000 shares of New Holland common stock outstanding.

Badgley said, "This acquisition further complements Magna's current acquisitions in central Illinois and will enable Magna to further expand its retail banking services to the customers of New Holland Farmers Bank."

He also announced that Magna is planning to combine the New Holland bank with Magna Bank of Lincoln, N.J., in Lincoln, Ill. "The combining of the two organizations will give New Holland customers additional locations for their banking convenience."

At Dec. 31, 1988, New Holland had total assets of $18.5 million. Magna Group, a multi-bank holding company, owns 13 banks, representing over 40 banking locations in central and southern Illinois, a trust company and a data processing company. Magna has an agreement pending to acquire Sesser Bancorporation, Sesser, Ill.

He is the son of Joe Adamitis of Granite City and the late Katherine Adamitis. A native of Collinsville, he started with the 84 chain in June 1987 at the Alton store.

He and his wife, Sharon, and children, Brandon and Ambrea, are residing in Collinsville. As co-manager, Adamitis is responsible for store operations, including sales and inventory control.

Reinagel Mortgage now under new management

Ed Reinagel, founder and former president of Reinagel Mortgage Company at 703 N. Main St., has announced the sale of that firm to EHG Company Inc., an Edwardsville-based holding company.

EHG is also the parent company of Midwest Title Insurance Company Inc., located in Edwardsville and Belleville, and Preferred Title of Missouri Inc.

Reinagel said, "After 35 years as a lender in the Metro East area, I feel that it is time to step down and enjoy retirement. EHG is a very progressive company. I am sure that through their aggressive management and financial strength, they will not only continue to serve our present clientele, but increase the products, services and markets that Reinagel Mortgage currently serves."

Walter Gorski, spokesman for EHG, said Reinagel Mortgage will continue to specialize in government loans (FHA and VA).

He added, "They will have direct endorsement authority for FHA loans in addition to the automatic approval on VA loans currently offered. All in all, the acquisition should enable EHG to better serve the real estate industry in the St. Louis region."

Gorski is president of the Midwest Title subsidiary.

Planning: Don't pack 'sloppy' for move

By Ellen O'Brien

With careful planning, your next move can be organized and efficient, allowing you the peace of mind you need to settle into your home. The following moving tips are provided by the Real Estate Board of Metropolitan St. Louis.

Make a list of items to pack separately: items needed on the road (maps, prescription medicines, toys for children), items needed to settle in (cleaning supplies, light bulbs, tools), and those items you will need within the first few days of arrival (food and utensils for the first meals).

Pack a suitcase you could live out of if it should become necessary. Keep important papers, such as medical records and insurance policies, in one place where they can be retrieved quickly if needed.

Anticipate the worst possible weather for the season and plan accordingly. Check with a local greenhouse for advice on moving specific houseplants. Don't pack possessions without cleaning them. There is no sense in moving household dirt, and you are more likely to have the energy for cleaning at the beginning of the move, rather than after you have arrived.

Contact your real estate agent or new landlord to determine if there are local ordinances for large deliveries. If you are moving into an apartment, ask about service entrances or elevator rules.

Keep careful records of all your moving expenses as you incur them; some may be tax deductible.

When the moving day finally has arrived, make sure someone is home to meet the mover and point out items to be loaded onto the truck. If you are handling your own move, organize loading to maximize space in the truck, and to ensure that the heavy box of books does not get loaded on top of your china. Friends are wonderful for hoisting those boxes, but you, or someone who is familiar with your possessions, should oversee the loading process.

Before leaving, make a final check of all rooms, closet shelves and other spots where items may have been overlooked. Have an empty box handy for those "found" items or items that don't seem to fit anywhere else. Turn off all lights and close and lock all windows and doors. Leave your keys with the real estate agent, landlord or new owner.

When you arrive at your new home, make an initial survey of each room. Check the fuse box or circuit breakers to make sure everything is turned on. If the house or apartment is not in the condition you expected, that is the time to raise any concerns regarding unexpected defects: Three weeks after you have moved in may be too late. Call family or friends to let them know you have arrived safely at your new home.

Make sure you are there to meet the movers to avoid possible additional charges. During warm weather, have cold beverages available for movers, professionals or volunteers. Finally, don't try to unpack everything at once. Unpacking carefully and in an organized manner, keeping in mind which boxes can be stored just as they are, will save time in the long run.

Don't get me started; or, stitch in time has saved many T-shirts

Spring has sprung in Metro East, and with it T-shirts and their slogans, a fact that has generated varying levels of popularity around the country.

Vehicle bumper stickers compete with them, sporting their own, usually shorter versions of humor and wit.

A few T-shirt examples get the general idea across quickly:

DON'T START with me; you know how I get.
Obey that impulse.
Dain bramaged.
This is the earliest I've ever been late.
I can't be overdrawn; I still have some checks.
If you get the impression that many of the sayings are self-deprecating, you're right: No condo, no MBA, no BMW.
Or, if I were any lazier, I'd slip into a coma.

TRUST ME; I'm a doctor, one slogan says. Another: My tastes are simple. I like the best.
If you're a bit reluctant to reveal your age, just wear a 29ish shirt. Or, 39 forever! Or, Pushing 40 is exercise enough.
Do you have a sweet tooth? How about: I kill for chocolate. If you work for a newspaper like the Press-Record/Journal: Is there life before coffee?
Some T-shirt slogans are extremely long: I've done so much, with so little, for so long that now I can do anything with nothing.

What can you expect of a day that begins with getting up in the morning?
Never try to teach a pig to sing; it wastes your time and annoys the pig.
Some shirt sayings aren't long: So?

THE BATTLE of the sexes never ends, and presumably all is still fair in love and war: Women like the simplest things in life — men.

They've just found something that does the work of 5 men: 1 woman. Too bad we don't have a drummer to give an appropriate response to these one-liners.

A woman's place is in the mail.
Dinner is ready when the smoke alarm goes off.

A woman without a man is like a fish without a bicycle. No, I haven't figured that one out.

either.
Lead me not into temptation; I can find it myself.
You look maah-velous.
And, I refuse to have a battle of wits with an unarmed person.

PHILOSOPHY? You couldn't find a better place for it than a shirtfront.

It's not whether you win or lose; it's whether I win.
Get even; live long enough to be a problem to your kids.
The difference between genius and stupidity is that genius has its limits.
The one who dies with the most toys wins.
I'm easy to please as long as I get my way.
Where there's a will, I want to be part of it.

CORRECT SPELLING and grammar are optional: I is a college student. And, Last week I couldn't even spell engineer; now I am one.

This is being compiled on Monday, which brings to mind: It's been Monday all week.

Many of these phrases are available from profit-making companies, but a big advantage of the whole concept is that you can invent your own slogan and have it printed on a shirt.

Or you can adopt or adapt a favorite statement, such as Go ahead, make my day.

AS FOR ME, give me liberty or give me Are we having fun yet?
And then there is that old saying, I may be getting older, but I refuse to grow up.
Now, for all the off-color T-shirts....
Sorry, but I just ran out of space.

THE LAW AND YOU

BY RICK REED
Attorney At Law

If an employee violates a safety rule and is injured on the job, can he still receive workers' compensation benefits? In a recent case, a 39-year-old pipe fitter was working on a scaffold 70 to 75 feet in the air as part of a crew installing downspouting in a power plant when he fell to his death. The arbitrator denied the claim for benefits because, at the time of the fall, the worker was in direct violation of a specific safety rule. The rule required the use of safety belts, and the worker was not using his belt when he fell to his death. The decision of the arbitrator was appealed.

The issue in this case is whether the knowing violation of a safety rule which causes injury removes an employee from the scope of his employment. Illinois law provides that if such a violation takes the employee entirely out of the sphere of his employment, then it cannot be said that the accident arose out of the employment, and no compensation can be recovered. If, however, the employee does not put himself out of the sphere of his employment when he violates the rule, he is only guilty of negligence and is therefore not barred from recovery.

In the case noted above, the Appellate Court felt that the decedent was performing the duties for which he was hired. He was not engaged in any work activity which was unauthorized by his employer.

For these reasons, the Appellate Court reversed the decision of the Industrial Commission and awarded death benefits in this case. The Court felt that the claimant was where he was supposed to be, doing what he was hired to do, even though he was performing his duties in a negligent manner. Thus, the violation occurred within the course of the claimant's employment, thereby entitling his dependents to workers' compensation benefits.

In another recent case, a janitor inhaled fumes from sulfuric acid while cleaning a urinal. This duty was part of his job description. The inhalation of fumes resulted in his death. There was evidence the employee was forbidden to use sulfuric acid. The Supreme Court in this case upheld compensation for the death on the basis that the act of cleaning the urinal was in the course of his employment.

Outdoor stains showcase natural beauty of wood decks and siding

Real wood decks and siding enhance the beauty and charm of many homes in the metropolitan area. To protect these woods, I recommend a semi-transparent or clear stain.

If applied properly, a coat of stain is easier to maintain than a coat of paint. Even though stains may not last as long as paints, they require no sanding, scraping or priming for reapplication.

Clear finishes penetrate the surface of the wood, while maintaining the integrity of the grain and the hue. They prevent that silvery-gray look that comes from years of exposure to weather and pollution. I recommend selecting a finish that contains both a water repellent, such as paraffin wax, and a preservative. Preservatives not only guard against weather damage, but also help prevent mold, fungi and insect infestations.

To actually change the color of a wood finish on a deck or siding, I select a semi-transparent stain to penetrate the wood with pigment. These stains change the color of the wood without obscuring the beauty of the grain.

Be careful in selecting a semi-transparent stain. They come in latex and oil varieties. Although efficient for some uses, latex versions form a surface film that does not truly penetrate the wood grain. However, pigmented stains, whether latex or oil, usually are more durable than clear finishes because they block more ultraviolet light.

There are also a few rules to follow in the application of stains. You may brush, roll or spray stains. Brushing provides the best coverage on rough-hewn or weathered wood.

As with all do-it-yourself projects, I first read the label for special instructions and safety tips. I also make sure the surface of the wood is clean and free of dust and contaminants. Another important preliminary step that I always take is to apply the stain in an obscure corner of the wood. This quick test gives an accurate indication of how the finished project will look.

Stir the stain often to keep the pigmentation even.

It is best to keep children and pets away from your work until it can thoroughly cure.

Using these tips, you should lengthen the life of your deck or wood siding without hiding the charm of the grain. If you have questions about staining or any other do-it-yourself project, call Central Hardware's Mr. Tinker Hotline, (314) 966-3000.

AA's rise, North's fall set for TV

By Mark Bretz

Staff affiliate

Sweeps months are serious business in television, so it's only appropriate that two made-for-television movies airing Sunday deal with serious subjects.

KTVI-TV (Channel 2) presents "My Name Is Bill W.," a Hallmark Hall of Fame production that reunites James Woods and James Garner, stars of last season's excellent Hall of Fame special, "Promise." The new presentation, which airs at 8 p.m. Sunday, is the dramatization of the story behind Alcoholics Anonymous.

Woods plays Bill Wilson, a World War I hero who returns home and embarks on a brilliant career as a Wall Street stockbroker. Wilson's penchant for mixing drinking with business gradually accelerates as he immerses himself in his work, oblivious to the needs of his wife, Lois (JoBeth Williams).

Wilson's life is intertwined with that of another broker and drinking pal, Ebby (played by Gary Sinise), but his encroaching alcoholism has a degenerative effect on his professional work and his personal relationships.

He falls badly in the stock market crash of 1929, is fired by his boss (George Coe) after a pathetic drinking bout at a party and moves with his wife to the home of his father-in-law (Fritz Weaver), who urges his daughter to leave Bill and start a new life.

From his chance meeting with Dr. Robert Smith — "Dr. Bob" — played by Garner, Wilson develops the organization known as Alcoholics Anonymous, in which anonymity is critical to the healing process.

Make no mistake, "My Name Is Bill W." is not in the same league with "Promise." The show is strong and compelling. Woods delineates Wilson's shocking deterioration from war hero to street bum, but the solution of founding a group such as AA is packaged too neatly and too quickly resolved.

The road to recovery takes place in rather amazing fashion over the last 30 minutes of the two-hour production, and Garner's small part just isn't developed sufficiently to indicate his impact on the group.

Still, "My Name Is Bill W." is a sobering look at a serious disease and well worth your time.

Jury still out on Ollie
At press time, the jury still was deliberating in the trial of Lt. Col. Oliver North and the film editors still were putting the final touches on "Guts & Glory: The Rise and Fall of Oliver North," a two-part 1989 made-for-television movie that airs at 8 p.m. Sunday, and 8 p.m. Tuesday on KMOV-TV (Channel 4).

Supposedly this dramatization of North's story ends shortly before his trial on charges of conspiring to aid the Contra rebels in Nicaragua with money illegally obtained from the sale of arms to Iran. But the airing of the movie is very coincidentally timed just after a trial verdict is likely to be announced, and that can't hurt its ratings.

The production follows North's career from 1964 to the secretive work he performed for the National Security Council, leading eventually to the criminal charges the U.S. Justice Department brought against him.

David Keith has the title role, with Bernard Hughes playing late CIA director William Casey, Peter Boyle as National Security Council chief John Poindexter, Paul Dooley as NSC advisor Robert McFarlane, Annette O'Toole as North's wife, Betsy, Amy Stock-Poynton as North's loyal secretary, Fawn Hall, and Bryan Clark as former President Ronald Reagan.

Now, for lighter fare
All is not heavy drama Sunday night. "Masterpiece Theater" unveils an engaging six-part adaptation of "The Charmer," Nigel Havers has the title role in this drama set in England in the 1930s and '40s, playing a rogue named Ralph Gorse, an appealing gadabout whose affable personality masks his mischievous — and perhaps deadly — intentions.

Havers portrays Gorse as a clever, beguiling sort of chap who seems to get his way even as the people he meets are somewhat leery of his intentions. Rosemary Leach and Bernard Hepton offer excellent supporting work in "The Charmer," which premieres at 9 p.m. Sunday on KFTO-TV (Channel 9).

Good sports
Other highlights this weekend include the Cardinals' game against the Los Angeles Dodgers at Busch Stadium, which KSDK-TV (Channel 5) will carry beginning at 3 p.m. Saturday.

Collinsville arts show to offer 50 craft tables

The annual spring arts and crafts show will be held from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. May 6 at Wal-Mart on Beltline Road in Collinsville.

A benefit barbecue also will be held to help the Miracle Children's Network.

Proceeds from table, rentals will be donated to the Miners Theatre restoration fund.

More than 50 craftsmen will participate. Sale items include flower arrangements, woodcrafts, dolls, decorated fans, ceramics, quilts, Rensselaer dolls, counted cross-stitch, crocheted items, Mother's Day gifts.

'She's Out of Control' OK fare for Danza fans

Tony Danza moves the contemporary family adventure television format of "Who's the Boss?" to the big screen in a movie most likely to be enjoyed by fans of the long-running sitcom and little girls on the threshold of teendom.

In "She's Out of Control" (PG), Danza plays Doug Simpson, a widowed dad with two daughters who runs an oldies radio station. Simpson's daughter Bonnie (Laura Mooney) is a little tomboy. Daughter Katie, played by Ami Dolenz, is about to celebrate her 15th birthday as the story begins.

Simpson leaves the station

Movie News

By Harry Hamm

early on the big day. He jumps in his Jaguar and heads home to their old-fashioned, two-story middle-class house accompanied by a large teddy bear and big birthday plans for his daughter. After all, Katie is daddy's little girl, but when a business trip takes Simpson out of town a few days later, he returns home and finds the "little" girl has undergone an amazing transformation. Gone are Katie's braces, her thick glasses and her childish ways. Katie is now a teen goddess, a leggy, pubescent femme fatale who has been discovered by the young men in her social whirl. The nervous suitors are lining up like lottery hopefuls the day of a drawing. Simpson is so overcome with confusion he seeks the help of a psychiatrist, played by Wally Shawn. The doctor is a bit wacky himself, but at least he listens.

But the look and movement of "She's Out of Control" is still one of an overgrown, elongated, talky and ineffective television feature without the ordinary commercial messages.

Rated PG (mildly offensive teenage behavior). Running time: 97 minutes. Rating based on four stars.

District 9 requires proof of residency for registration

Parents registering new or transfer students in Granite City schools for the 1989-90 school year will be required to have proof of residence, school officials have announced.

Rent receipts, tax bills, home purchase contracts, utility bills or other documents bearing the address of a child's residence will be accepted. Kindergarten registration will begin in the district May 1.

"Primary emphasis is being placed on new students," W. Richard Brinkhoff, elementary education administrative assistant, said.

"As school districts surrounding the Granite City school district experience more and more financial difficulties resulting in curtailment of their services, it is anticipated that parents may attempt to enroll their child in our schools to benefit from the services offered here."

Non-resident students could cause the loss of state aid and result in the overcrowding of schools, he said.

SIUC honors local student

Mary A. Elmore was among students at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale recently honored for academic excellence during an Honors Day awards banquet and reception.

Students must have at least a 3.5 grade point average on a 4.0 scale to be recognized. Honorees received certificates, scholarships and prizes for their efforts. Students and their guests were greeted by University President and Mrs. John C. Guyon, who hosted the day's events.

Elmore, a junior majoring in business education and religious studies, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel T. Nickell of Granite City.

Takes part in show

More than 100 students participated in Kansas State University's 61st annual "Little American Royal."

This livestock show is patterned after the American Royal held in Kansas City that includes beef, dairy, sheep, swine and horse divisions. The event was part of an open house at the university, which is located in Manhattan, Kan.

Jeanie Spooner of Granite City was among KSU students who took part in the program. The event teaches techniques of training and showing university-owned livestock.

HONORED: Herbert Buford Jr., a senior at Venice High School, was one of six students to be honored at the annual Albert S. Moore Scholarship Banquet, held at Our Lady of the Snows Shrine, Belleville. The son of Herbert and Sylvia Buford, he plans to pursue a degree in engineering.

Gets scholarship

Christina Kasproovich, a senior at Granite City High School, has received a Leadership Award from Rockhurst College, Kansas City, Mo.

Leadership scholarships are based on the student's involvement in high school activities and leadership potential. Rockhurst offers 32 undergraduate majors.

Groups calling for more school funds

A broad-based alliance of education, civic, agricultural and business organizations from across Illinois has been assembled to push for a state income tax increase to benefit elementary and secondary education.

But House Speaker Michael Madigan remains opposed to the proposed increase.

The State Board of Education, the Chicago Urban League and the Illinois Farm Bureau comprise the foundation of the 34-member group, which met for the first time April 18 to discuss strategies for pursuing a tax increase.

"It is a phenomenal testimonial to the importance of education — and to the critical need for more state funding for our elementary and secondary schools — that this partnership can be formed by organizations with such diverse roots," State Superintendent of Education Ted Sanders said.

"Together, we will do all we can to ensure that elementary and secondary education receives more adequate and equitable state funding."

"We will not allow apathy and indifference to the needs of our children and our schools to be our legacy to the 21st century."

This historic alliance is demonstrative of the far-reaching impact the financial crisis in our public education system is having on the people of Illinois," said James W. Compton, president and chief executive officer of the Chicago Urban League.

"It is an issue that touches all communities regardless of race, creed or vocation. Our mutual dependence on a well-educated citizenry makes it imperative for us to work together on a mandate to our legislators for increased school funding through an income tax increase," he said.

"This is both a rural problem and an urban problem. It is a concern for every civic group in Illinois," according to John White Jr., president of the Illinois Farm Bureau.

"The people of Illinois — both urban and rural — want a greater financial commitment from the state and comprehensive changes in education funding. Taxpayers want to invest in education, not just push more money into the system."

"While we may not agree on the exact mix of ingredients for a final school funding package, we all agree that a tax increase is needed to provide greater commitment from the state," he said.

Monmouth College honors four Granite City students

Four Granite City residents were among 136 students at Monmouth (Ill.) College named to either the dean's list or the honor roll.

To be named to the dean's list, a student must maintain at least a 3.66 grade point average on a 4.0 scale.

Students on the honor roll must achieve a grade point average between 3.5 and 3.6 on the same scale.

Dean's list students were: Lisa Jackson, a senior English major, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Jackson; Dawn Kamadulski, a sophomore, the daughter of Donald Kamadulski and Tynia Kamadulski; and Susan Murphy, a freshman synoptic major, the daughter of Bill Murphy and Mary Anne Murphy.

Named to the honor roll was Richard Schierling, a junior business administration major, the son of Ramona Schierling.

Founded in 1853 by Scottish Presbyterians, Monmouth is a traditional liberal arts college with 675 students and 65 faculty members. Students may design their own major program or choose from 26 fields in the arts, sciences, humanities and social sciences.

'Junior' Warriors play well in loss

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

Once again playing with a makeshift lineup — but for much different reasons — the Warriors again gave Belleville Allthoff all it could handle Wednesday.

With 16 varsity players under suspension, Granite City still hit the ball hard, but Kevin Wozniak was shelved for eight runs in the first two innings as the Crusaders (11-3) took a 10-7 decision in Belleville. Granite City fell to 10-9.

Meanwhile, athletic director Greg Patton, high school principal Ken Spalding and Mike Sikora of the superintendent's office listened to appeals from the parents of seven of the players suspended for the next five games because of an alleged drinking incident on Friday. Patton said Thursday morning the parents would be notified in writing of the committee's decision on the appeal.

Warrior coach Bob Stegemeier knew he was going to win, but a full deck against Allthoff, but was quite pleased with what he saw.

"I told them they had no business playing a 10-7 game against a team like that," he said. "I was proud of the effort I got from all of them."

Joe Wallace, one of five varsity players not under suspension, was 3 for 4 with a three-run homer as the Warriors fought back from an early 8-1 deficit to get as close as 9-7. Granite City had 10 hits, with sophomore Jim McKechan getting two. Fellow sophomores Ryan Reeves, Mike Nordstrom and Eric Lewis all had hits as well, with Reeves having an RBI. Varsity players Mike Mueller and Jeff Thompson also had hits.

"Wozniak started out terribly," said Stegemeier. "He threw pretty well the last three innings and got out of some jams."

Allthoff stranded nine runners, but sophomore center fielder had five RBIs, including a grand slam in the second inning.

"He reminds me so much of Darryl Strawberry," Stegemeier said.

Allthoff pounded out 15 hits and all of the runs were earned. The Warriors had 10 hits and scored four earned runs while being helped by two Allthoff errors.

"We had hitting up and down the lineup," Stegemeier said. "(Sophomore Rob) Terrell hit a screamer, but Stovall just went over and made a routine play on it. And it was good to see Joe finally start hitting the ball like he can."

Mark Doiron picked up his second win over the Warriors in four days. He pitched five innings before Rob Voeltinger came on and pitched two hitless innings to pick up the save.

The Warriors play Centralia in a home double-header at noon Saturday. Stegemeier is planning on using Nordstrom and sophomore Dave Boley on the mound, with others ready as needed.

"These sophomores want to play," Stegemeier said. "I don't know what kind of ball club Centralia has. They might come and beat us 10-0 twice in five innings. I don't know. But I'm sure we'll get a good effort."

Meanwhile, the suspended players continue to practice with the team. There was no formal practice Wednesday, however, because there was no supervision.

"I had a talk with them last night," Stegemeier said. "I just don't know what to expect. But I'm planning to welcome them back when the suspensions are over and try to go on as before."

The sophomore team was depleted as Stegemeier took the players he needed.

"We didn't necessarily take all their best players," he said. "We took the ones we needed to fill positions."

Nordstrom was the designated hitter, McKechan played second, Terrell played first, Reeves was in center and Lewis was at shortstop. Wozniak and Wallace formed the battery, with Keith Matlock run right, Mueller at third and Thompson in left field.

Warriors, 'Wings play scoreless tie

By Dave Whaley

ALTON — With possibly the top seed in the upcoming sectional at stake, one would expect a hard-fought and evenly-matched soccer game.

That's exactly what transpired Wednesday at Gordon Moore Park as the Lady Warriors and the Alton Redwings battled through 90 minutes of regulation time and two 10-minute overtime periods without a goal. The tied Granite City's five-game winning streak and left the Lady Warriors with a 7-1-1 record. Alton is 9-2-1.

"We made some foolish mistakes the last time we played Granite City," said Alton coach Mick Brown. "But this was a very well-played and hard-fought game all the way. There was a flow to the game."

"I thought it was a pretty even game," said Lady Warrior coach Gene Baker. "They had some threatening-looking plays. I guess you would have to give Alton a slight edge because of the emotion."

That emotion didn't translate into any goals for the Redwings, however. Probably Alton's best chance came in the opening moments of the second quarter when freshman Camie Bechtold dribbled right down the middle through a rare opening in the Lady Warrior defense. Her hard shot just missed the right post.

Things remained tight the rest of the way. The Lady Warriors came closer to scoring five minutes into the fourth quarter. Sophomore Addie Lenz took a centering pass at point-blank range and fired a shot past Alton.

County meets bring fairly good results for Madison

Trojanettes get six firsts while placing second

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

HIGHLAND — First place is better than second place. But second was just fine to Gene Briggs on Tuesday.

Briggs watched as the Trojanettes track team racked up 74 points in the Madison County Green Division Meet, seven points behind first-place Highland. But missing out on the top spot was hardly a disappointment.

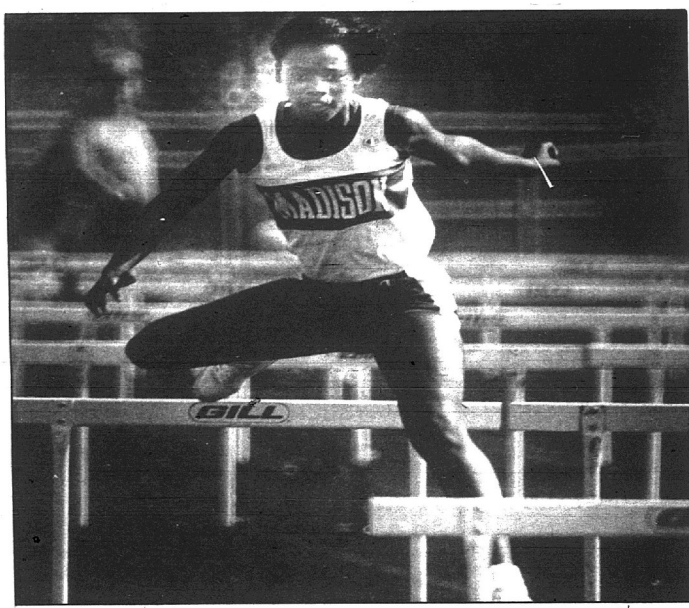

"We were the only Class A school there," Briggs said. "We knew Highland had strengths throughout their lineup. In every event we won, they got a second or a third. We weren't able to do that in the events they won, so that was the difference."

"But we had 15 personal bests in the meet. So that's nothing to feel badly about. We emphasized the personal performances and we had some very good ones."

Rounding out the team scores were Triad (46), Bethalto (39), Roxana (32), and Wood River (6).

The Trojanettes took first in six events. Senior Vivian Turner won the 100 meters in 12.8 seconds; junior Deanna Brown won the long jump with a leap of 15-1 1/2; senior LaGloria Marshall won the 200 meters in 26.4; the 800 medley team of Sharon Browley, Tramia Burt, Katrina Garrett and Shalonda Virginia won in 1:57.5; the 400 relay team of Browley, Garrett, Turner and Marshall won in 51.1; and the 800 relay team of Burt, Garrett, Marshall and Turner won in 1:49.8.

Thinned-out Trojan squad battles to get third place

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

HIGHLAND — All things considered, things didn't turn out badly at all for the Trojan track team Tuesday.

Madison took third in the Madison County Green Division Meet with 41 points despite a squad which has numbered as low as 10 people for some meets.

"I never thought it would be like this," said veteran coach Charlie Steptoe. "We've lost some to grades, some to jobs and some have moved away. We had a nucleus of about 20 when the season started, but many of them are gone."

The biggest loss, of course, was two-time state champion Ian Smith, who transferred to Vashon High School during the winter. But the Trojans have persevered, and still managed five first-place finishes in Tuesday's meet.

Senior Jessie Leonard, the defending state champion in the long jump, won that event with a leap of 21-7 1/2. But he has some cartilage and was unable to compete in the finals of either of his other two specialties, the 100 and 400 meters.

"We don't know if he will be ready for Friday (the Red Bud Relays)," said Steptoe. "We'll suffer without him. I think we would have scored 50-55 points with Jessie running in the sprints. He would have won the 100 and placed in the 400. That wouldn't have won the meet (Highland won with 79 points), but it would have definitely helped."

Triad was second with 61 1/2 points. Trailing Madison were Roxana (34 1/2), Bethalto (31) and Wood River (25).

Other firsts for the Trojans came from Darrin Dandridge in the triple jump (40-11), Tony Treadway in the 200 meters (23.2), the 400 meter relay team of Treadway, Harold Moody, Dandridge and Leonard (44.6) and the 800 relay team of Mike Barnes, Treadway, Moody and Dandridge (1:36.2).

Dandridge got second in the 100 meters (11.6). Fourth went to the 3200 relay team of Scott Kostenki, Eric Richardson, Alphonse Brandon and Moody (9:36.8), and Kostenki in the 100 high hurdles (17.5). Fifth went to Robert Pritchard in the discus (110-6 1/2). Kostenki in the 100 intermediate hurdles (46.3) and the mile relay team of Anthony Rich, Richardson, Brandon and Moody (8:58.6).

"As a team, we did pretty well," Steptoe said. "We're down in numbers, but we're still fighting. Depending on how fast Jessie recovers, we could still qualify in some events for state."

He has run the 100 as fast as 11.0. He's got his 400 time down to 51.9 and he needs 51.0. Treadway is coming on in the 200. He has 22.2 Tuesday and needs to get down to around 22.8. Dandridge is a possibility in the triple jump, and I can never count out our 400 and 800 meter relay teams."

NOTES: The Granite City Warriors placed third in the four-team Red Division meet at Collinsville with 47 points. Alton ran away with the trophy. Edwardsville had 81 and Collinsville had 30. The Warriors got

Serrada Eskrima

Ancient Philippine martial art taught in Granite City

By Dave Whaley
Executive sports editor

GRANITE CITY — A man is dangerous with a stick in his hand. But a man or a woman can be just as dangerous barehanded.

That's the essence of the Philippine martial art known as Serrada Eskrima. Chuck Cadell of Madison has opened up the Warrior Martial Arts Academy on 18th Street in downtown Granite City to teach the art.

"It's an art which stresses speed, coordination, body motion and dynamics," said Cadell, 36. "The basics include learning how to manipulate a stick. But what is really important is that we try to teach someone to do the same sorts of things without a stick, with slight body modifications."

"Those who learn the art get to the point where what they can do with a stick, they can do with anything, like an umbrella, or with nothing but their bare hands. It's a weapon-oriented art taken to the level of empty-handed self-defense."

Cadell said Serrada Eskrima is especially worthwhile for law enforcement officials and women. It is taught as a means of self-defense.

"I have been approached by several law enforcement agencies to work with their men," Cadell said. "A few police officers in Granite City have worked with me. And it can also be a valuable help to women."

The main thing I stress with women is to escape a confrontation. I never want them going toe-to-toe with an attacker. We teach them to be very aware and to avoid a bad situation. But there are things they can do. We know that 99 times out of 100 you're just going to make an attacker mad if you do anything. So we teach them ways to temporarily immobilize someone and then get out of there."

Linda Babbs, 28, of Granite City, began instruction under Cadell three months ago.

"It's something I always wanted to do," she said. "I look at it as a great challenge. There aren't many women who have done this. And I do want to be able to defend myself if something ever happens."

Mike Utecht, 30, of Granite City, has been involved with Serrada for three years and with the martial arts for 14 years. He also said self-defense was his main reason for learning.

Serrada is mostly done with the hands, although the feet can be used.

"There looks to be a lot of overlap in the maneuvers," Cadell said. "But we teach where to strike safely and to temporarily immobilize an attacker. You always want to attack at an extremity and hit nerve centers."

Cadell, who is originally from Hawaii, learned the art from Jimmy Tacosa, a Master of the

Gundaker victorious at Tri-City

By Joe Senter

GRANITE CITY — Kevin Gundaker returned to town in style Saturday as he won the U.M.P. late model stock car main event at Tri-City Speedway.

On the opening night of the regular 1989 program, Gundaker had his new #11 car tuned to perfection as he beat some of the best stock car drivers in this part of the country to the checkered flag for $1,500.

He was chased to the finish line by Gibby Steinhaus, who finished second. Rick Standeridge was third. Bill Shaw was fourth, John Prior was fifth and Chris Bargetzi was sixth.

Gundaker and Steinhaus won the heat races, with the trophy dash going to Bill Shaw, followed by Jim Durbin and Earl Hutchings.

The sportsman's car feature was taken by Tom Seets in his famous #41 car. He was followed across the finish line by John Seets, Don Carter and Rick Bayer. Randy Cordy and Bayer won the heat races, with the trophy dash going to Bayer.

The street stock feature event was called off due to rain. Bill Vinyard and Jim Lafferty took the heat races with Dave Jones taking the trophy dash followed by Don McElroy Jr. and Lafferty.

The gates open at 6 p.m. Saturday for another night of racing.

TAURUS, a giant car-crushing truck, will make a feature appearance at a Sunday School rally held at Central Baptist Church, 3940 Highway 111 in Granite City, on April 30 at 10 a.m. The truck's owner, Jack Willman, will also make an appearance. Taurus T-shirts, hats, posters and pictures and other prizes will be given away.

Viola's contract another intrusion on 'the game'

Sports Talk

By Dennis Barnidge

The following conversation took place last week between Frank Viola, the 29-year-old millionaire pitcher for the Minnesota Twins, and Andy McPhail, the club's multimillionaire executive vice president and general manager.

VIOLA: What's the hold up on my bucks, boy? Apparently, you don't understand: I'm a star, and I want what I want. I also deserve what I want, and I get what I want.

McPHAIL: No! A hundred times no, a thousand times no, 8.1 million times no.

VIOLA: You can't talk to me like that. I'm a star, a huge star, a MEGA-STAR! I'm as close to an entire constellation as you'll ever get. You're going to pay me my $8.1 million and you're going to like it.

McPHAIL: Like hell I will.

VIOLA: Bitch!

McPHAIL: Hussy!

And that's where things stood until April 18, when Viola penned a $7.9 million contract.

And baseball fans everywhere are reminded once again that the rich are not like you and I. For which, I suppose, we should be thankful.

Personally, I got a kick out of the Viola snit. What can you do without sweating or waking up the next morning with a headache that's as much fun as watching rich guys eat like fat, yapping fishwives?

The Viola incident isn't worth going into in detail. The basics — Viola wanted a lot of money, the Twins offered a little less, the two sides wrestled on the floor like debutantes fighting over a bottle of Valium and everybody called each other names — are plenty for our purposes today.

The point here isn't money. Certainly, the point isn't loyalty, which we have no reason to expect from teams or players anymore, or greed, which we have every reason to expect from teams and players. No, the point is I don't want Frank Viola's or the Twins' business to intrude on my game.

I want baseball to be simple. I want it to be fun. I don't care if it's big business. I just don't want to hear about it.

Baseball players get paid incredible amounts of money, obscene sums of money. The Cardinals, for instance, have five millionaires. Ozzie Smith will collect about $2.4 million this summer. Four other Red Birds — Tony Pena, Pedro Guerrero, Willie McGee and Tom Brunansky — will cash in to the tune of $1 million to $2 million apiece this season.

And who's to say they aren't worth it? Not me. CBS is going to pay Major League Baseball Inc. $1.1 billion to broadcast baseball from 1990 through 1994.

CBS is kicking in another crate-load of million dollar bills for a cable package. Anheuser-Busch's cut of that greenback pie comes out to about $14.4 million a year. Why shouldn't Smith and the others share in the loot? Big money in baseball is so ordinary, so commonplace you hardly notice.

At least you don't notice until you hear that Viola is pouting about the indignity of a 107 percent raise. He's offended that the Twins would only offer to increase his salary $1.1 million per year over last year's $1.5 million earnings.

Hear that just once and then take a trip to the ballpark. Look around. Does Smith look like a shortstop or a Swiss bank account with spikes? Does Pena look like a catcher or a crumpling blue-chip investment portfolio? Sorry. When you start talking money — those players start looking like millionaires and baseball starts looking like Exxon.

There's a lot of charm to a sunny afternoon or warm spring night watching a baseball game. There's a lot of charm in watching a child's game played as well as it can be played by grown men. There's a lot of charm in the skill, effort, courage and strategy you'll see most any day at the ballpark.

I defy you to find much charm in watching millionaires do anything. Except maybe turn on a spit over a roaring fire.

I want Frank Viola to go away. I want to fool myself into thinking baseball's a game again.

keeper Kathy Klope. But the shot bounced off the post and was knocked out of bounds.

"That was a pretty play on our part," said Baker. "We did everything just the way we wanted."

The Redwings, who outshot the Lady Warriors 12-7, had the better of the play in the overtime, with Carrie Bechtold having the best chance. She made a great individual rush in the final minute of play, but had the ball knocked away from her before she could get a shot. The ball was smothered by Lady Warrior keeper Chris Kasproovich, who picked up her sixth shutout.

"I always like to win, but I'm quite happy to get a tie with a team the caliber of Granite City," said Brown. "That shows we're doing something right. We haven't had two bad games in a row this year. I was concerned with how we would come back after our loss on Monday (a 1-0 loss to Springfield in which Alton had a 28-2 edge in shots)."

With seeding for the sectional coming up next week, Brown admitted a win would have helped his team tremendously.

"Now I think Granite City has to get the top seed," he said.

The Lady Warriors suffered a setback when senior Cheryl Stacey went down with an ankle injury early in the fourth quarter and didn't return.

"It wasn't anything violent," Baker said. "She just got caught by one of their players right on the bone and it was really painful."

art. Tacosa is a protégé of Grand Master Angel Cobales, one of only two Grand Masters left. Serrada comes from the Latin term "to close" and Eskrima means "fencing."

"It's an art that was just made public within the last 10 years," said Cadell. "I didn't know it was something from my own culture (Cadell is of Philippine descent). It's mostly for use in street situations, although there are tournaments. It goes back several hundred years. In fact, Magellan was killed in the Philippines by a practitioner of Serrada."

Cadell said that while everyone learns at a different rate, it generally takes a new student 3-4 years to become fully proficient.

"It's something kids have fun with," he said. "It's good for building self-esteem and confidence."

Cadell is teaching the art in Alton and St. Louis as well as in Granite City. Tacosa will be coming to Alton on May 6-7 for a workshop.

"We just want people to be aware that we're here," Cadell said. "I think it can be easy and fun to learn. It helps balance your attribute levels on each side of your body. The main concept is to become quicker and to take care of yourself."

seconds from Dan Grayson in the discus, Mike Fea in the long jump and Dan Brazee in the high jump, the 400 and 800 relay teams.

Thirds went to Joe Thomas in the shot put, Rich Dawes in the discus, Mike Patterson in the 3200 meter run, Eric Achenbach in the 300 hurdles and Larry Strader in the 1600 meters. Fourths went to Achenbach in the 110 high hurdles, Thomas in the discus, Frank Vivod in the shot put and Damon Yates in the long jump. Fiftths went to Tim White in the 100 meters, White in the long jump and Terry Noud in the 200 meters. Granite City runs in the Marion Relays on Friday.

Girls

"We're very excited with those performances," Briggs said. "What we were able to accomplish is nothing to be disappointed about."

Madison got five seconds: sophomore Marvis Jones in the shot put (31-1); sophomore Katrina Garrett in the 200 meters (27.0); senior Sharon Browley in the long jump (14-11); junior Shalonda Virginia in the 400 meters (62.6) and the mile relay team of Turner, Angelique Brown, Detra Blakey and Melissa Davenport with a time of 4:23.9.

Thirds went to sophomore Arion Dicknes in the shot put (29-8); Jones in the discus (86-10); Angelique Brown in the high jump (4-10); and sophomore Deanna Frey in the 100 hurdles (17.8).

Fiftths went to senior Tanya Wellmaker in the 400 meters (66.6); sophomore Deonna Williams in the 800 meters (2:52); Frey in the 300 hurdles (53.5) and sophomore Markelle Hill in the 100 meters (13.2).

Briggs believes this could be the best Trojanette team yet. And although pleased with Tuesday's performance, that doesn't mean he's satisfied.

"I don't think we should be fully satisfied in any area," he said. "Just because we do well against the competition in this area doesn't mean we are ready to compete with the best in the state yet. We need to keep working on improving our times."

The Red Bud Relays on Friday should be a good indication of what to expect. Briggs thinks the Trojanettes have a good shot of advancing to state in at least nine events, and there are "three or four other maybes."

"The Red Bud Relays will be run on the track where the sectional will be against most of the same teams that will be in the sectional (May 12)," Briggs said. "So that should be a pretty good indication of what to expect."

NOTES: Madison took second at the Greenville Relays on Friday with 74 points. Carlville won with 82. The Trojanettes got first from Turner in the 100 (12.9). Browley in the long jump (14-11), the 800 relay team of Burt, Garrett, Marshall and Turner (1:47.9) and the 800 medley team of Browley, Burt, Garrett and Virginia (1:55.5).

Granite City took third in the Red Division meet at Collinsville with 41 points. Edwardsville won with 126, followed by Alton with 56. Collinsville was fourth with 30. Diana Brandt won the discus (104-½), while Tracie Henn won the 800 meters (2:37.8) and the 1600 meters (6:04). Julie Kern got seconds in the shot put and discus. The Lady Warriors also got seconds in the 800 medley and the 3200 relay.
